

50 Dreams & the Hustle Theory

(Curb Your Enthusiasm - Meets - Insecure - Meets Girlfriends)

After raising kids, and losing everything in a nasty divorce, middle-aged, overly-logical thinking Ebony Robinson goes back to college to fulfill her dream of being a successful writer, and quickly transforms into a money-hustle-expert in order to pay tuition. We follow the comedic situations she finds herself in and observe her managing a new life that is non-traditional and age inappropriate (or maybe not). Always short-on-cash, Ebony is an expert in creative money hustles that include driving for a ride-share company, participating in questionable clinical studies and surveys, and scanning class action lawsuits that she can attach herself, while navigating a tech driven college campus where students and professors challenge her grown-up sensibilities. Episodes are packed with zany, over-the-top comical escapades that leaves us exhausted from laughing, smarter because of her experiences and inspired by her determination to reimagine her life purpose.
